FIGHT IS WAGED OVER EXPERT TESTIMONY

Wilson Dam Power Will Be Used Here Soon

TRANSMISSION LINE COMPLETED AND IS READY FOR CURRENT

Tennessee Valley Pop Of Power Company Is In Operation

CITIES ARE SAVED ONE "CUT OFF"

Lights Flicker and Then Brighten As Current Still Comes In

Albany and Decatur probably will be receiving power from Wilson Dam within the next two weeks, it was stated here today, following completion of the new Alabama Power company's transmission line from Sheffield to Huntsville and by means of which the Twin Cities already are receiving current.

The first instance given Albany and Decatur of what the new line is expected to mean to them was given yesterday afternoon during the electrical storm. Observers noted that at one time, the lights flickered for a period of about three minutes.

It was explained this morning that during the storm a line burned out beyond Sheffield. Had there been only one source of power for the Twin Cities, as had been the case before the completion of the new second line, current here would have been off while the repairs were made. Instead of that eventuality, however, Wednesday afternoon, lights flickered when the line burned, and then came on with their usual strength. Albany and Decatur were getting power over the second line.

In connection with the service of Muscle Shoals power soon it was explained here today that the government plans to test Wilson Dam and between now and the first of August it is expected that power generated at the dam will be cut in on the new transmission line during a short period, while government engineers test out the potentialities of the dam.

The present Tennessee Valley lines of the company now include two transmission lines here to Huntsville and two lines from Sheffield to Courtland. It is understood that the company plans the erection of a sub-station at Cedar Lake, or the construction of a second line from here to Courtland. The company's loop in the entire valley cities are in position to obtain power in practically unlimited quantities, even in advance of the use of Muscle Shoals current.

FORD BIDS HIGH FOR GOVERNMENT SHIPS

Manufacturer Raises Price Offered To Shipping Board

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 16—Henry Ford today offered $1,706,000 for the 200 shipping-board bessels set aside for scrapping. His bid compared with $1,370,000 offered by the Boston Iron and Metal company of Baltimore when a previous set of bids were opened on June 30.

The Baltimore company's tender was favored by President Palmer of the fleet corporation, but rejected by the shipping board which called for new proposals.

LOCATION OF DRAW SPAN LIKELY TO BE MADE KNOWN SOON

Government Engineer Does Not Comment On His Findings

NAVIGATION CO. ENGINEER HERE

Two Look Over The Possibilities For River Traffic

The question of location of the draw span in the Tennessee river bridge was regarded here today as likely to be settled within a few days following the visit of Percy Jones, engineer representing the district engineer at Florence, and E. B. Jones, engineer representing the Tennessee Navigation company of Chattanooga.

Th government engineer has spent several days in the Twin Cities collecting data, making soundings and preparing information which he will include in a report to the district engineer. Mr. Jones investigated the river and its channel, for a distance of approximately 1500 feet above the proposed site of the bridge and for 1500 feet below the site of the present Southern railway bridge.

He was non-committal, when asked about his findings, those who talked with him stated. Mr. Jones declared that he could offer no comment, in advance of the submission of his formal report to his chief.

The question of location of the draw span has been the subject of interesting discussions for several weeks, various engineers offering different suggestions as to where it should be placed, in order that river traffic might be accommodated to the greatest extent, and the architectural beauty of the bridge structure preserved.

Confidence was expressed that the engineers will work out a plan which will be entirely satisfactory to all.

LADIES NIGHT IS POSTPONED BY CLUB

International Report Is Received By The Members

Ladies night will be postponed until cooler weather following the action of the Kiwanis club today at the regular weekly session of the organization. F. S. Hunt, chairman of the committee reported a lack of interest at this time of year and the club voted for postponement, plans to be carried forward at this time.

M. R. Rankin, secretary of the club gave an interesting and comprehensive report of the International meeting held at St. Paul this year at which President Mathews and Mr. Rankin were attendants. The report was received and thanks extended the secretary for the thorough manner in which he had followed the minutes of the International gathering.

On motion by Clyde Hendrix the membership will observe Farm Bureau week during the week of July 20. A speaker will be obtained for the evening Thursday meeting of next week. The usual musical and stunt program was enjoyed throughout today's gathering.

ONE HOME ROBBED, DOGS SAVE SECOND DURING THE NIGHT

Clothing And Money Is Stolen From Dwelling At Austinville

LOCAL OFFICERS PICK UP TRAIL

Negro Now Believed To Have Caught Train At The Crossing

A negro, who robbed one Austinville residence and is thought to have attempted to rob another, today was believed to have made his escape on a southbound freight train, after Officers Mitchell and McCall of the Albany department, had trailed him to the Austinville railroad crossing.

Last night some one cut the screen wire at the McCoy home in Austinville, but was frightened away by the barking of dogs about the place.

Sometime after two o'clock the home of Huie Owens, in Austinville was entered. The intruder was believed to have passed through a room in which a light was burning, into the room occupied by Mr. Owens. There he obtained a pair of overalls, a shirt and some money, approximately $15. Then the intruder went into the room occupied by Mr. Owens' daughter and son-in-law, where he obtained a small quantity of clothing and a pocket knife, together with a small amount of change.

The daughter saw the intruder and the half-light revealed that he was a negro. She screamed, awakening her husband, and her father. The negro fled.

Officers Mitchell and McCall were notified and went to the scene immediately by automobile. A preliminary investigation revealed no clues, but the officers returned to the scene about daylight and easily picked up the negro's trail.

The burglar was barefooted and his tracks were clearly visible, the officers said, in the road which he traveled. He was trailed to a cotton patch where they found some clothing he had discarded and 95 cents in change, which he had dropped in his flight.

In the cotton patch the negro put on his shoes and the officers discovered that one rubber heel was marked, while the other was not. This made it comparatively easy for them to track him to the Austinville crossing of the Louisville and Nashville railroad.

On their return from their first investigation, the officers realized that the intruder might attempt to catch an outbound freight, so they warned railroad officials to be on the lookout for a suspicious character attempting to board a train.

OBJECTIONS WILL BE HEARD BY COUNCIL

Other Business To Come Up Friday Is Scarce

BLASINGAME SEEKS SOLUTION OF CLINIC MUDDLE IN MORGAN

Health Worker Here To Hold Conference With Doctors

HOPES TO KEEP THE CLINIC OPEN

Knows Nothing About Any Changes In Laboratory

W. C. Blasingame, director of the bureau of venereal diseases, U. S. public health service, was here today in conference with local physicians in regard to continuation of the Morgan County venereal clinic, which has accomplished such outstanding results since it has been in operation.

Fears have been expressed that the clinic might close.

Mr. Blasingame announced that he expected to return to Morgan County on Tuesday of next week for further conferences with physicians of this county. The clinic which is held on Friday and Tuesday of each week will not be open this Friday nor next Tuesday. Those in touch with the situation, hoped however that the clinic would be opened again beginning on Friday of next week.

Mr. Blasingame spent several hours in the Twin Cities, attempting to work out a plan for continuation of the clinic and the elimination of friction which has developed in regard to the work with state health officials. He appeared very hopeful that "things will work out splendidly" and that the worthwhile work in this county will not be interfered with.

Mr. Blasingame stated, while here, that he had nothing whatever to do with the operation of the laboratory and knew nothing whatever of rumors that a plan was being considered for removal of the laboratory.

ADVANCED RATE NOW COLLECTED

Water Bills To Be Paid Monthly Under The New Schedule

The advanced rates for water service in Albany and Decatur is being collected by the Alabama Water company, following the posting of a $2,500 bond on order of the federal court at Montgomery, which issued a temporary restraining order, preventing the utility commission and attorney general from interfering with the proposed rate schedule.

The company urged that patrons retain their receipts bills, pointing out that if the courts should finally hold against the increased rate, that all overcharges would be refunded to patrons, the bond covering that repayment.

It was announced also that bills of July 1 are made on a monthly basis. In the future all water bills will be paid monthly, instead of quarterly, as heretofore.

STATE MAINTAINS SCIENCE'S THEORY IS NOT PERTINENT

Debate On The Motion Carried Into The Afternoon Session

LIVELY TILT MARKS COURT

Apologizes Are Offered To Judge After Two Lawyers Wrangle

(Associated Press)

DAYTON, Tenn., July 16—Argument on the question of whether scientific testimony shall be admitted in the trial of John T. Scopes, occupied all the morning session of the case of the young school teacher, charged with teaching evolution theories, and was continued into the afternoon. Court was called to reconvene at 1:30.

Arthur G. Hayes, for the defense, had advanced the contention that testimony from experts on evolution was competent. William Jennings Bryan Jr., and Herbert E. Hicks and Ben T. McKenzie, opposed the position in behalf of the state.

Dudley Malone was expected to speak for the contention of the defense in the afternoon with William J. Bryan and Attorney General Stewart in opposition.

The morning session was enlivened by an exchange between Ben T. McKenzie and Arthur G. Hayes, caused by a question from Mr. McKenzie as to Mr. Hayes' belief in the story of creation. The incident closed with apologies to the court after "none of your business" and "impertinent questions" were expressions used.

The state of Tennessee made a formal motion at the trial this morning to exclude the testimony of scientists from the trial. The defense, however, was determined to get testimony into the record from qualified experts on the subject of evolution and its relation to the Bible. They put up a stubborn fight.

The jury, excluded from the courtroom yesterday, during the testimony of Dr. A. M. Metcalf, a "test witness" was still out of the room today.

Dr. Metcalf, a zoologist, gave testimony on evolution yesterday to show the nature of the evidence the defense would insist on.

The argument by William J. Bryan, Jr., marked his first appearance before the court. He characterized the expert testimony suggested by the defense as "the weakest, the most capable of abuse and the most dangerous." He said Mr. Darrow, in the Loeb-Leopold trial, characterized experts as "purveyors of perjury."

During his son's speech, William Jennings Bryan sat just behind him and listened intently to every word. In support of his contention that testimony should be confined to facts, he cited numerous authorities.

"The only issue this jury must decide is whether John T. Scopes violated the law," he continued. "To permit testimony by experts would be to substitute trial by experts to trial by jury."

Among authorities cited by Mr. Bryan, during the course of his brief, were many decisions by the supreme court of Tennessee.

The spectators rose up and took a seventh inning stretch as Mr. Bryan finished his argument and the court took a brief recess. Bryan was congratulated.

Photographers, held at bay thus far today, trooped into the room and began to operate their machines.

It became known today that the minister who offered the morning prayer to open the court was the Rev. James A. Allen, pastor of the Lindale avenue Church of Christ Nashville and editor of the Gospel Advocate. Mr. Allen said he was a fundamentalist.

Mr. Garfield, in replying to Bryan's (Continued on page two)

RAILWAY OBTAINS AN OUTLET TO SEA

Purchase Of The Road Gives Frisco a Gulf Port

(Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 16.—Officials of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad, Frisco Lines have seized an opportunity to provide an outlet to the sea for the road through the purchase of the Muscle Shoals, Birmingham and Pensacola railroad, an announcement by J. H. Kurn, president of the Frisco system reveals.

Heretofore, the Frisco has never had an outlet to the ocean, and has had to transfer all incoming or outgoing freight to or from other lines. Birmingham, the eastern terminus of the road, is its nearest terminal to a gulf port.

The Muscle Shoals, Birmingham and Pensacola railroad is 143 miles in length, extending from Pensacola to Kimbrough, Wilcox county, Alabama, where it connects with the Mobile division of the Southern railroad. Kimbrough is located a few miles below Selma.

Traffic experts point out that there are several routes by which the Frisco can construct an outlet to the Gulf. It has been unofficially reported that the Frisco officials will extend the line from Kimbrough to Glen Allen where it will connect with the present route of the Frisco. Glen Allen is 15 miles north Carbon Hill and about 72 miles from Birmingham. A connection at this point would give the Frisco an almost direct North and South line from its Birmingham-Memphis division to Pensacola.

ANOTHER OUTBREAK IN CHICAGO GANGS

Two Murders Are Now Mystifying Chicago Police

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Ill., July 16.—Two are dead and one wounded in what police believe is another of the city's gangland feud outbreaks.

Tony Compagno, son of a wealthy commission merchant, was killed when a "closed car" drove abreast, halted long enough to permit its occupants to fire a score of shots into the car in which Compagno was sitting.

Another murder mystery was presented when Charles Vurtucci, a taxi cab driver, brought to the hospital a man fatally wounded. Vurtucci said the man had engaged his cab and that an unknown man had approached the cab and directed three shots at the passenger. Vurtucci disappeared before the police arrived.

That's just what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for the Babcock Girl—and is doing as much for tens of thousands of thin, underweight, weak and discouraged people all over America.

SOUTHERN TO HAVE LONGER RAIL SPAN

(Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 16.—Before very long travelers that are riding Southern railway trains that haven't got anything to pass way the time but to sit up and count the clicks as the train passes over the joints in the track will notice that these clicks do not occur so often as they did at one time. The explanation will be that the Southern Railway system is going to be outfitted with longer rails sometime in the near future. Instead of having rails 33 feet long, the system is going to have a standard 39 footer. Some, if not all, of these rails are to be rolled by the T. C. I. Company at their Ensley-Fairfield plant.

The new length rails will reduce the number of joints in the track from 320 to 271 per mile, and regular travelers that are used to estimating the speed of the train by timing the click of the joints will have to take off 49 clicks to the mile in order to be accurate.

Officials of the road, in making the announcement of the adoption of the new rails, said:

"Advantages of the longer rails are supposed to include smoother and safer tracks as well as economy in laying the rails and in maintenance of them. As it is well known, the weak spots in all railway tracks are the joints, and by the substitution of the longer rail, a net saving of 49 joints per mile is obtained.

"The rails recently ordered by the Southern will be cut into longer lengths. Recent advances in mill practice and improved devices for laying rails have made the longer standard possible."

Now-a One-Profit Car in the Quality Field

STUDEBAKER has achieved one-profit manufacture in the quality field. This marks a new era in the automobile industry. Studebaker's achievement eliminates unnecessary profits running up to $500 on a single car. It banishes double overhead. It results in quantity production of quality cars. It vitally affects pricing by establishing a new criterion of value in the fine car field.

TWENTY-FIVE years ago practically all "manufacturers" of automobiles were nothing more than assemblers. They purchased motors, bodies, tops, axles, etc., from parts makers who were the manufacturers in reality.

On this basis it was easy to become an automobile "manufacturer," and more than five hundred makes of automobiles have had their day in the American market and disappeared. They are represented only by "orphan cars" with practically no resale value.

Notwithstanding this writing on the wall many manufacturers still assemble their product, piling profit upon profit for the ultimate purchaser to pay. Each profit which a maker pays to a body builder or parts supplier enters into his costs just as though he had spent the money for steel or plate glass or upholstery. Although it represents no value he not only passes it on to the purchaser but figures his own profit on top of it.

The Ford is a one-profit car and reigns supreme in its field.

In the fine car field Studebaker—and Studebaker alone—now offers the American public one-profit value.

During the past seven years, when demand exceeded supply, Studebaker has been plowing earnings back into plants and machinery until we are now able to make this announcement.

Foundries, stamping mills, machine shops, are now complete. As final links in the chain of one-profit production, the enormous Studebaker body plants have been operating for months at peak capacity. Resources totaling one hundred million dollars are concentrated on the production of this one-profit car.

No other individual manufacturer in the world (except Ford) possesses such facilities for the complete manufacture of automobiles.

That is why Studebaker is able to put finer steel, finer wood, finer upholstery, better workmanship, hundreds of thousands of miles of ro-

Why Studebaker is the "one-profit" car

There are more than 60 makes of automobiles built in the United States, but very few are manufactured complete in the plants of the producers who sell them.

Only 42 build all their own motors—and one of the 42 is Studebaker. Of the 42 which claim to make their own motors only 14 make the iron castings, stampings, and forgings which go into their motors—and one of the 14 is Studebaker.

Only 5 make all their own bodies and one of the 5 is Studebaker. Only 1 make all their own motors, bodies, chassis, springs, axles, gear sets, differentials and steering gear. One of these 2 is Studebaker and the other is Ford.

serve transportation, into every car—yet keep down the price to you.

This sound manufacturing principle not only holds down price, but it insures a better car regardless of price. The car is not a patchwork, but a unit.

Last year at the New York and Chicago automobile shows four well-known automobile manufacturers exhibited coaches mounted with the same body—a body made from the identical dies, jigs and fixtures. Certainly these manufacturers must have sacrificed engineering advantages in chassis construction to accommodate this "standardized" coach body built by an outside supplier.

Contrast this with Studebaker, where the entire car is designed and built as a unit—and engineered complete. This construction means (1) longer life—(2) greater comfort in riding—(3) greater freedom from repair expense—(4) greater resale value.

With the advent of this one-profit-overhead plan of motor car manufacture, it is folly today to buy a car by the same comparisons you used yesterday. Today you must measure all cars with this "one-profit" Studebaker.

One-fourth of all American passenger cars built today belong in the fine car field—a total of 57 different makes selling above one thousand dollars.

There are 21 Studebaker body styles available on three different chassis. The Standard Six Models, 113-inch wheelbase, 50 h.p. engine, $1125 to $1600 f.o.b. factory. The Special Six Models, 120-inch wheelbase, 65 h.p. engine, $1450 to $2120 f.o.b. factory. And the Big Six Models, 127-inch wheelbase, 75 h.p. engine, $1875 to $2650 f.o.b. factory.

And you may buy your Studebaker today with the assurance that it will not be arbitrarily stigmatized by any act of ours as a "last year's model." Instead of spectacular annual announcements of "new yearly models," Studebaker has adopted the policy of keeping its cars up-to-date in body styles and chassis design every day in the year. Therefore, buy your Studebaker now!

12 Years Ago From The Daily of July 16, 1913

Dr. Homer Cogdell, assistant live stock agent of the Southern railway and G. W. Humphrey, assistant dairy and poultry agent of the same road, were here today.

The Central National Bank began business today, succeeding the Commercial Savings Bank. Officers are: A. A. Hardage, president; T. H. Mattocks, vice president; Thomas A. Bowles, cashier; C. W. Gover, assistant cashier.

J. G. Finley has purchased the old race track and fair grounds property at $300 an acre.

Ground will be broken tomorrow for the new Oshine building, corner of Bank and Church streets.

Mrs. Claude Daniel complimented Miss Marion Ferguson, of Huntsville, with a "Flinch" party Tuesday evening. Miss Margaret Penick was awarded the prize for highest score.

Mrs. A. M. Robinson and daughter, Miss Louise, leave Thursday for "Flower Hill," their country home.

Henry Ford denies that he is to make a six-cylinder, gear-shift automobile. The "lizzie," it seems, is to remain with us for a while longer.

A bumble bee is blamed for an automobile accident near Anniston. Just the matter of being stung by a bumble bee is considerable accident.

The weather hasn't a thing to do with that desire to lounge around the house—that's just a habit peculiar to every man.

Even Clarence Darrow can overstep the bounds—he evidently wishes public opinion to be thrown against him in asking that the custom of prayer be done away with in the Dayton courtroom. Judge Raulston took the stand of a Christian gentleman in overruling the motion of the defense to bar prayers in the room.

Perhaps the readers of The Daily did not notice it, but the sections in which The Daily enjoys the heaviest circulation voted strongly, some solidly in favor of a continuance of the one mill school tax. We do not wish to appear egotistical, we merely point to the work of any progressive newspaper in the march of civilization.

Are you doing your part in the development of our cities? Are you offering more than your moral support, are you giving service when you are called upon? Are you fighting to advance the best interest of your towns, are you helping to develop the natural resources that we have to offer the outside world? If you are, then you are building for both yourself and your cities, you are an Albany-Decatur citizen with the interests of the cities at heart. These cities belong to you—build them, prosper them, fight for them in every constructive move that is offered.

BANNER SUGGESTS WHOLE STATE SHARE IN DAYTON'S PUBLICITY

Sensing the advertising Dayton is getting out of the Scopes trial, the Nashville Banner has inaugurated a movement to have the entire state share in the publicity. The Banner would have all of the 150 newspaper correspondents, attending the trial, to go on a special train on a tour of the state.

Florida press agents and real estate boosters have nothing on Tennessee and the Banner. Tennessee's money trial just now is running the Florida bathing beauties off the front pages of the newspapers, and the Banner desires to press the state's temporary advantage and obtain every inch of free advertising the commonwealth is entitled to by virtue of owning a young professor who was willing to become the defendant in a test suit.

The Banner is publishing long communications from chambers of commerce and citizens, endorsing the plan. Tennessee apparently is far from being unaware of the immense amount of free advertising 150 newspaper men could obtain for the state.

Unfortunately the Banner's communications do not include the crisp comment hard-boiled city and managing editors are likely to make, when they hear of the plan. A free tour of the state undoubtedly would appeal strongly to the majority of the reporters covering the trial.

Some of the bigger guns in the press gallery might look with more or less disfavor on the plan, for the Dayton trial has attracted so many news-writers, a few have been included who have reached a position of fame and finance so secure, they might be able to afford to pay for a trip, if they can overlook their earlier tendency to accept all invitations which require no monetary outlay. The majority of those present at Dayton, however, would like nothing better than a comfortable pullman berth, with ample dining car equipment, and a three-day whirl around the circuit in Tennessee.

Let us all wish the Banner luck in its effort. The state would gain an immense amount of publicity, the reporters would have a great outing and, after all, it would be interesting to watch developments when 150 news gatherers are turned loose with no harder assignment than having a big time, with expenses paid.

WHY NOT NAME BRYAN AND DARROW AS PARTY CANDIDATES?

The Democratic party being so entirely bereft of worthwhile presidential timber at present, may The Daily not suggest that the party consider the Dayton circus and its leading clowns in relation to the next presidential race? Bryan, being fleet of foot and, in spite of his years, somewhat attentive to things politically, might be named as standard bearer with Clarence Darrow as his running mate. Of course, Mr. Darrow may not be a democrat after all, but surely his long experience at the bar has taught him that there are occasions when an elastic political conscience is a thing greatly to be desired, and, at the same time very helpful in procuring for the one so blessed, many material blessings in the political realm.

We believe that Clarence would run, if he were approached properly by the delegates to the next free-for-all democratic party stages.

Of course, there would be no worry over Mr. Bryan's acceptance. His tendency toward political marathons, displayed early in life, has been shown so often, most of us are convinced asking him to be a candidate is as simple as starting a talking machine, merely press a button and the program begins.

The presence of these two citizens in Dayton has procured for them wide advertising. Every voter in the nation knows them, or will know them before the summer ends. Surely their reputation is such that their fame should be an asset, rather than a handicap for them. They have gotten the advertisement and the people have been given immeasurable free entertainment. They should be rewarded. The long, hot summer days in the stuffy Dayton courthouse should not be wasted. Their great contributions to the country's pleasure this summer should not go unrewarded. Amundsen has returned and MacMillan has gone to the arctic. It is too late to think of our two distinguished countrymen in connection with either trip? What then could be more fitting than to run them for president and vice-president, as the great leaders of a great party?

There might be some professional jealousy between them as to which one was specifically represented by the democratic donkey emblem, but even that situation could be avoided by changing the emblem on the ballots to a monkey.

Bryan could gather up all the antis and Darrow could round up the pros. With evolution discussions on the tips of nearly everybody's tongue, how could the Republicans hope to defeat the two men who have played such a prominent part in these controversies? They should get the votes of all free thinkers and those who do not think from the more modern standpoint.

MINIMUM SPEED LIMIT NOW APPEARS ON SOME OF THE IMPROVED ROADS

The Rhode Island state highway commission has designated a minimum speed limit of 35 miles an hour for some of the new paved roads of that state, which causes the Anniston Star to remark that the evolution process in transportation has led away from the maximum limits and toward the fixing of minimum limits.

Of course if the state highway commission of Rhode Island cares to fix the lowest limit at which an automobile or other vehicle can travel on certain roads at 35 miles an hour, that is the business of Rhode Island and not Alabama. However, it is to be hoped that such fanatical desire for speed will not reach this state soon. There still are a few residents of Alabama left who yet possess some common sense in driving and who do not care to the penalized because they prefer safety to thrills.

The Laurel Miss., Leader defends the action of the Rhode Island commission in the following editorial:

Laws fixing maximum speeds for motor traffic were the product of a period of unimproved, narrow highways, crude traffic control devices or none at all and inexperienced and inadequate traffic squads. Low speed was essential at a time when traffic had to take care of itself on thoroughfares which were narrow, rough, and either dusty or muddy.

A logical consequence of the increasing mileage of hard-surfaced, widened and carefully patrolled highways was the raising of the maximum speed limits. A trend in that direction is noted in every state with a good roads program. It is not a thing which the motorists have forced upon the several states, it is a step of the evolution in American traffic conditions. A decade ago there were elements of danger in high speed. Today there are elements of danger in low speed on certain highways.

Just as the speed laws of today are distinguished between city streets and country highways by fixing higher maximum speeds for the former than for the latter, so will the speed laws of tomorrow make a distinction between certain highways by requiring high speed on some and prohibiting high speed on others.

Obstacles confronting the guardians of the highways in the establishment of minimum speed limits are small cars with a limited range of speed, the new, inexperienced and timid classes of drivers and the necessity of protecting new cars at a low speed for a fixed number of miles. Roads wide enough for four traffic lanes, or one road for fast traffic and another for slow moving vehicles, may be future solutions of the problem.

Mississippi also may have been bitten by the speed bug, but The Daily hopes the pest will be placed under strict quarantine in our sister state. Readers will pardon us for suggesting that if the pressure for minimum speed limits on Alabama highways becomes so strong that action to that end is considered seriously, that, instead of adopting such regulations, that all municipalities be requested to provide free race tracks, where the dare-devil motorists may stop long enough to race around the course at any blame rate he or she desires to travel.

An admission charge to such an event might aid in defraying their costs, for the American public, possessed of the mental complex which causes us to "have more darned fun, for more people got killed," likely would attend these races in large numbers, in anticipation of a super thrill when a few cars get tangled up with each other, while tearing around at 100 miles an hour.

Highway motoring, with a 35-mile an hour minimum speed limit in force, may be a thing of joy for people of Rhode Island and Mississippi, but here in Alabama, let us be country and comfortable a while longer, instead of blase and buried.

WORRY JEOPARDIZES A PERSON'S EFFICIENCY

The Heart Is Affected, Vitality Lowered and Usefulness Is Lessened by Undue Thought of Trouble or Lack of Recreation.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. COPELAND

LOOK over your friends with a critical eye. Note how they appear some given morning.

One will have sparkling eyes, good color and a happy smile.

Another will drag about as if the feet weighed a ton. The face will be so long the chin appears to rest on the chest.

A third friend seems absent-minded and in a dream.

Too many of the human family suffer from worry. "Worry killed a cat," is the old saying. Worry has killed the usefulness of many a day. It has destroyed the efficiency of many a hard working individual.

It is almost silly to tell anybody not to worry. The causes of fretting are so varied and so difficult to reach that it is no light task to overcome the evil practice.

Worrying lowers the vitality. It clogs the mental wheels. It slows down the brain processes. It lessens the efficiency to a marked degree.

The trouble with most of us is that we are altogether too materialistic in our ideas. We look for gross things and entirely overlook the tiny and insupportable factors.

Worry is both a cause and an effect. By this I mean it may produce physical disturbance and likewise it may be the result of poor bodily function of some sort.

Anything which disturbs the digestion, the action of the intestines, the function of the kidneys, the work of the liver, or the activity of the skin, may dam up in the system materials which will act as poisons, not only to the tissues of the body, but also to the brain. In consequence, the normal function of the mind is interfered with and worry may be the chief symptom of the disturbance.

If there is real cause for worry and the mind broods over some troublesome and distracting thing, there is sure to be an effect on heart, blood vessels and brains. In consequence vitality is lowered and efficiency suffers.

I wish I could eliminate worry from the human mind. If every human being on earth could be freed from the cursed shackles of cruel worry, it would be a different world. There is no doubt that the usefulness of many a mortal would be doubled.

If you are given to worry make it your business to find out why, is the cause within you, or is it some-

A three day carnival has been suggested to celebrate the beginning of construction work on the Albany-Decatur bridge across the Tennessee, the contract for which was awarded last week by the highway commission. In the case of such a carnival, all the valley cities will be asked to participate and it is expected that all northern Alabama will be interested.

The city commission of Tuscaloosa has passed an ordinance calling for $20,000 worth of paving to be done in the near future. A petition is out for the paving of twenty-first avenue in that city at a cost of about $40,000.

This office will continue from time to time, as often as it seems necessary to examine the water in order to keep it pure. The method used for purification is the same as that em-

Profits Climb As Stock Prices Soar

Several Twin City residents including employees of the Alabama Power company, are richer by several hundred dollars today than they were a week ago, as result of the sensational rise of common stock of the South-eastern Power and Light company, which was organized to take over the Alabama Traction Light and Power company, about one year ago.

Local investors bought stock in blocks of five, it was said, paying $200 for the blocks. The stock yesterday closed at slightly above 135. Taking into consideration that a stock dividend already had doubled the stock holdings of these investors, it will be seen that those fortunate enough to have bought at $200 now can sell their holdings at more than $1,300.

Helpful Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a girl in my teens and dearly love a young man a few years older than myself. How can I find out whether he loves me or not? ANNA.

ANNA: It is not your place to broach the subject of love, my dear, and for the present you will have to content yourself with this young man's friendship. Perhaps, later on, when your friendship has reached a more sympathetic stage, he will muster up enough courage to tell you of his love. But until then meet your other friends, have a jolly good time and try not to brood over the problems of love which come your way.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a young man about twenty-one years old and am in love.

with a girl three years younger than I. She says she loves me, but it seems as if she doesn't care much for me, although she won't go out with anyone else. Would it be advisable for me to continue my friendship with her? B. H. O.

B. H. O.: If this young lady has refused the attentions of other young men, there is no doubt of her affection for you, Mr. O. If you enjoy her company and are sincerely fond of her, you most certainly should continue your friendship with her.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her in care of this office.

Traveling Man Tells Of Picking Up Man Near Gaffney

PRUDENCE'S DAUGHTER

By

Ethel Houston

(Copyright by the Babbs-Merrill Co.)

There is many a slip between the cup and the lip, if the cup and the lip are both at the same petting party. That is what Jerry (Prudence's Daughter) learned upon a somewhat hectic introduction to Greenwich Village in New York.

Jerry, who came from the rural districts, also learned that it is not art that trials art. Her experience among the young souls who struggle for expression in the "Village" was good for her; she took more common sense back to her home than she had brought from there.

Rheumatism

"Yes! it's all gone."

DO NOT close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. You can get rid of your rheumatism by building up your blood power. It is a fact that rheumatism means "blood poverty." It is a fact with the increase of red cells in your blood, impurities are destroyed. It is a fact that S.S.S. will help Nature build these red-blood-cells! S.S.S. is one of the most powerful blood cleansers in existence. Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweetheart glow; your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. You can do it! Take S.S.S., the great destroyer of rheumatic impurities.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Gives advice to Expectant Mothers

"I HAD an awful time with my first baby," writes Mrs. Theo. Willey, 481 E. Ohio St., Indianapolis, Ind. "They had to give me chloroform and use instruments. They thought I would die. But before my second baby came I used 'Mother's Friend' and baby was born with only a few pains and before a doctor could arrive. I also used 'Mother's Friend' with my third baby. I was only sick a little while and she also was born before the doctor arrived. I cannot praise 'Mother's Friend' enough. I tell every one I see who is expecting to become a mother about 'Mother's Friend'."

Senators Change Boarding House As
Macks Take Double Win From Sox

A new king has been proclaimed in the American league today as the Macks became usurpers of the crown and passed the buck to the Senators. Washington dropped to second place when Detroit took a victory 5-2. Ty Cobb was the main factor in the Tiger win with two doubles and a single out of three times up. Dutch Reuther was re-instated for hurling duty but failed to produce the goods for his youthful boss.

The Macks in the meantime were busily engaged in delivering a pair of prize packages to the Chicago White Sox. The Macks didn't allow the Sox to even get close, so determined were they to regain the leading position of the American league.

In the National league the Giants moved another notch toward the top around in a tilt with the Braves. The McGraw clan is now within five points of the Bucs. Johnny Morrison gave up eleven hits to the Braves yesterday while the Pirate bats were silent with the exception of Pie Traynor who clouted a triple and a home run. Just the same the Braves copped a verdict 4-3. Virgil Barnes was very busy keeping the Cardinals from bunching hits while Morrison was getting his with the Boston Braves. The Giant lineup is ready for the attack with the exception of Heinie Groh who remains on the injured list. The McGrawmen have only begun the fight for their fifth straight pennant and it is doubtful if the Pirates are going to set the pace much longer.

Down in the Dixie league the Barons copped their second straight from the league leading New Orleans outfit. That proud clan was humbled through the consistent cracking of Baroniard war clubs and Kelley, New Orleans ace was beaten 10-3. Seems that the Barons are determined to make up for all lost motion in their late season spurt.

DEMPSEY SIGNS TO BATTLE HARRY WILLS

Fight Will Not Be Staged Before Next September

(Associated Press)
NEW YORK, July 16—George L. (Tex) Rickard announced today that Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion had signed to fight Harry Wills, negro heavyweight challenger.

Rickard said that Dempsey signed a formal contract today. The date of the meeting being left open.

"It will be impossible to stage it this year, but I expect it to come off by next September," Rickard said. Dempsey expressed his willingness to meet Wills at anytime.

The absence of Wills from this country and the long layoff by Dempsey induced the postponement. Under the contract the champion will be allowed to meet one contender before the Wills fight.

Inter-State Body
Regulates Rates

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 16—Freight rates on cotton from southwestern states to the Texas gulf ports were held to be unfair today by the Inter-state Commerce commission. Railroads were ordered to alter their schedules on or before October 12 in keeping with the new decision.

The commission also ruled that export rates on cotton to Texas ports should be higher than domestic rates and ordered a raise in the rate sufficient to pay the wharf charge incurred by the shipment.
